Choice – the option to select something you want. This concept has driven Cultivate since day one, pushing boundaries past the age-old idiom “it’s the thought that counts” while striving to create an individualized experience for each recipient. For ten years we’ve been the Trusted Source for on-site events. Now we are bringing the same knowledge and expertise to our virtual gift programs — the best alternative to gift cards, cash, and branded merchandise.

Our Curated Collections are designed to offer frequently used, best-in-class products that mirror the wants and trends of today, keeping lifestyles and sustainability top of mind. Quality is never compromised and tiered pricing pioneers us into inclusivity, allowing our clients to maximize their intent without sacrificing their budget or settling for a conventional gift.

Gifting is about more than just the thought; it’s about the action behind the thought and the recipient. Whether you’re looking to appreciate employees or customers, motivate a sales team, upgrade your gift program, or celebrate company accomplishments — make it worth their while.
